Make a variety of art and craft projects with plastic sheets and panels. Use a plastic sheet as an alternative to fragile glass for picture frames. Clear plastic sheets are non-breakable and can be cut to any size. Styrene plastic sheets are also a great replacement for framing art. They protect artwork and photos from scratches, smudges, and dust. Clear plastic panels are perfect for creating signs and displays. Lightweight and easy to transport, they work well with a variety of media. Plastic board is also ideal for collage and school projects. Ideal for door and window inserts, picture frames, cabinets and craft projects. Use indoor or outdoor. Project boards for temporary outdoor signage, school projects, hobbies, crafts and flooring protection. Shatter resistant and non-yellowing. Ideal as a protective surface over shelves and tabletops. Virtually unbreakable. Ideal for security and storm protection. Fannie Mae approved clear board. Once the frame is ready, we need to start to paint the canvas. I am using thick plastic sheet as the canvas board here, on to which I would draw the particular picture. Initially, I used Permanent marker to create square outline with the wooden frame in the sheet. Then used a marker pen to draw lines of the picture I wanted to make it. This will be the base, so that we could use paint confidently on the sheet, to create the picture.
